Jason,

I appreciate the option to choose the Senator but I think I would like to stick with the Red Barn as I would like to not be late returning to work. If all works well, we can plan a dinner date for the Senator for another time...

I will be at the restaurant by about noon-10. As you know what I look like already, I'll just let you wonder what I'll be driving instead of clueing you in now... ☺ I bet it won't be difficult to spot me... lol

See you around 12:10 tomorrow...

Hey there,

Hope your day is going well.... Yes we can meet up tomorrow (Friday) for lunch... How about the Senator vs. Red Barn? It may be a little quieter there.... Just a thought... Ill let you confirm the meeting place and time, as my schedule is flexible.

As far as me personally... I live out of my truck, and shower at the Mobile station down the road, I'm unemployed and always looking for someone to leach off of.... Just kidding!

I'm 35yrs and a director of operations for an investment company based out of CA. I have a bachelors in human resource and business management...

Motivation behind CL ad?... Not sure really, I think its curiosity of the unknown and being a risk taker. I have never met anyone online or placed an ad and you were the only one that responded.

I have to take this incoming call, email me back with some meeting info.

Its all good... ☺

Yeah, I work for the government but I've not yet attained that level of prestige, although its funny you chose the forensic field because my career aspirations are Forensic Psychology, in some shape, form or manner... lol Gotta love that synchronicity... I actually work with alcoholics and various other types of "rule-breakers"... I'm also on the crest of Senior status at UMA in the BS in Mental Health/Human Services program... right now I choose to use my education at the Dept. of Motor Vehicle in the OUI unit where I personally receive all the OUI reports from the police departments, am responsible for processing them for accuracy and completeness and ensuring the administrative suspensions are appropriately assigned... I am personally responsible for processing all out-of-state OUI offenses, Intoxilyzer refusal suspensions and .00 tolerance teen suspensions... In addition to those duties I must answer the phone 5 of my 8 hours at the office restoring various OUI or H/O drivers... or at least trying to as many times I am not able to as the driver has not completed all the requirements for restoration...

Soooooooooooo... the moral of this story, my dear, is do NOT drink and drive or I will know about it... ☺ lol

Let's do lunch on Friday, as right now is later Wednesday night and I'm not sure you'll get this before lunch tomorrow... I was thinking we could catch a bite at the Red Barn Friday lunchtime... that'll give you a choice of their seafood if you want and I can have the chicken I love so much... let me know how this works for you...

So, what do you do for work?? How far "off Riverside Dr." do you work?

Let me ask you... What is your motivation behind your CL ad?? I'm just curious because I've recently been exploring the way I treat my body and realized that if I had someone to cook for me I would probably eat better... and then, POOF, you placed your ad on CL... Gotta love that synchronicity... :D And what are your other stats?? Single, attached, kids, living arrangements, etc... ?? I am 38ish cresting 39 before the turn of the year... ;) but am often making people do a doubletake because they claim I look 20something... hmmmm... I'm a single mom of a wonderful 19ish y.o. daughter who is gainfully employed full-time with a local phone company... I share my country mobile home with 5 wonderful eclectic cats who are not afraid to be who they are, always fun loving and giving me their "soul attention" when I need it... well, actually, that's why I have 5 so I will always have attention from at least 1 of them... ☺ lol

So, get back to me as I'm gonna go start my bedtime routine... btw, Gina here... and you are??

Hey there:

Sounds like you have been having a string of bad luck....car, computer, etc.... Glad to hear its almost back to normal. Employed with the government, wow... Do you have one of those cool crime lab forensic positions like CSI???lol..

So 8 to 5, and lunch at noon... Hmmm you want to do lunch tomorrow, or wait for me to come over and cook you some dinner... If dinner, you need to tell me what your craving... If lunch it will be per your request, no worries on price, unless you want to go to McDonalds...lol My hours are flexible and currently work in Augusta off Riverside Dr.

Have a GREAT rest of the afternoon.

Hello there... sorry for not getting back to you yesterday as I had planned... On my way back to work from lunch my car shit the bed and then when I finally returned to work my computer shit the bed... lol... didn't have computer access again at work until almost 4:30... ☺ but I'm here now... that's all that should matter... lol ☺

Yes, I do work... I am employed full-time with the state government and I work mon – fri 8a – 5p. I live in Windsor, only about 20 minutes from intown Augusta and would very much like to find someone who wishes to cook for me, or with me if the mood strikes us... ☺ the foods I generally gravitate to are chicken, pork, beef but I have a strong dislike for seafood, cheeses and any food that smells unpleasant at any time during the prep or cooking process... Yes, I'm weird like that... If my nose doesn't enjoy its experience I wont subject my mouth to the same unpleasanties... ☺ I love steak, especially if it's cooked medium rare and broiled... I don't fry any of my foods and try to cook/eat healthy, when I do eat... ☺

I'm home for lunch now and need to get back to work so I'll send this portion along for the moment... I will continue my thoughts when I return home this evening... I would very much like to arrange a meeting with you in the near future at some central Augusta location. I work on Hospital St. in Augusta so any place right in town will work fine. My lunch hour ranges from noon – 1p but I can change that if need be.

Gotta run!!

Gina

Hi Gina:

You look very nice in your attached pic. Unfortunately my laptop has crapped the bed and it has all the pics of me on it. I'm on the computer at work. I should have my laptop back Thursday.

I would be willing to meet you in a public place in or around Augusta for you to see what I look like, I truly believe you wont be disappointed.

age 35 / weight 185 / height 5.8 / brown hair and eyes / nice build.

Some questions for you; Do you work? what are your likes and dislikes?

On another note, would you like me to cook for you? If so what kind of foods do you like... We could have a nice time sharing conversation with a little laughter and companionship.

I will be checking my email throughout the day so feel free to tell me your thoughts.

Have a GREAT day...

Attached is a pic of myself, tonight, in my home in Windsor... As you can see I am in need of someone to cook for me, or with me, as I no longer have my daughter in the home to cook for and I find little enjoyment in cooking for just myself... Would you please share a pic of your face and body so we can continue this conversation on an even playing field? Thank you much!
