Hey there...

a chubby, huh?? Lol and no, you did not offend me in any way... ☺ I'm a big girl... I can handle it... ☺

I can dish it out too, though... ☺

Sooooooooooooo....

Lets talk about food, shall we?? ☺ its important that we stay focused on our original objective... lol lucky for me, though, my appetite for food and my appetite for sex are intricately and permanently linked, so when my appetite for one increases, so does the other... and when one is lacking, so is the other... and then I suffer... ☺ so, lets stop the suffering, shall we??? LOL

Honestly, though, that's exactly true... I have discovered that both my appetites for food and sex fluctuate in sync with each other and don't usually vary much... so, its probably apparent (when you see me in pants) that I've been neglecting my body of its 3 basic needs for quite some time now... and its time to make a change... this neglect also includes rigorous exercise... so, there are 3 things I'm hoping to change permanently in the immediate future... as far as the rigorous physical exercise, I was hoping to play softball but I was too slow on the uptake to look into it... and the rosters were finalized before I looked into joining... so, that looks like a "next year" task... although, I do have to send out emails to the captains of the various teams that are registered this year... I was thinking recently about beginning to run... I had an occasion to run "full steam" just recently and realized that I miss the action of running... but I've yet to turn those thoughts into any type of action...

I have this little drama going on between my soul and my body... I'm harboring a bit of anger against my body as it has caused me some very life-altering issues over the past 20 years; unfortunately, the disadvantage to being spiritually aware is that I am aware that the problems I have had are a result of being human, and being in the human body... my soul "knew better", but my body (brain) didn't, and therefore I chose to do things that were contrary to Who I Really Am although I knew exactly what I was doing as I was doing it... you get my meaning?? ;) and I'm still working on my resentment toward myself about all that shit... I'm on the fast track to treating myself better but still have some obstacles to overcome... unfortunately, I need other human beings involvement in order to overcome those particular obstacles, and unfortunately I am exxxxtreeemely picky about who I share particular experiences with... so opportunities to work on particular goals don't come as often as I would like them to... you followin me???? Lol

Aaaaaaannywaaaayy...

I'll send this along in case you're hangin out online and wanna respond... I'll add more and send it along if the flow begins again...

D'ya catch any fish??

WOW... I love your second paragraph..... hands, body parts, touching... Okay I think we may get in trouble.

If your thinking that may happen then I may have no choice but to join in giving delicate touches over your body from top to bottom caressing every curve... Hands can be a wonderful thing.

Cooking may end up being a difficult task and may not actually be accomplished... We'll do something light...Peanut Butter and Jelly... hmm.. That may also aid in the touching sensation, and may have to be cleaned up, if ya know what I mean!

Okay... now that I have a chubby going on, I need to stop. Sorry if I offended you in any way... Don't think I did..

Your turn

Me

Well, my thoughts begin with your statement that you are "attached, right now" ... what that means exactly I don't yet know... but I do know that I will make an exerted effort to refrain from sexual innuendo or implications when I believe the other person is "taken" in some way, form or fashion... I've always tried to respect my female cohorts when it comes to their male partners, etc etc etc... and I don't wish to cross any proverbial boundaries that may tarnish whatever type of friendship you and I may begin to create...

However... ☺ You are definitely sweeeeeet eye candy and I would not be opposed to just sitting and ogling you while you cooked me a wonderful meal... but I can't promise that I will be completely successful in keeping my hands (or other body parts) to myself during our time together... and if I do falter in that effort, I wish for it to not cause our friendship to disintegrate...

Time for me to leave... Send your response to my roadrunner address, please... ☺

Lookin forward to tomorrow... ^kiss^

Gina

Possible repercussions due to opposite sex... hmm.. I have had some thoughts... and visuals...lol I will tell you that I love to cook and socialize with intelligent people that I can carry a conversation with, as long as drama is to a minimum. I also love intimacy between two adults sharing one an others touch. Again I have not done that so I guess I'm what you call an online virgin. hmm... You want to take it...lol

Thoughts?

So, let me ask you something... have you thought about the possible repercussions of embarking on this type of experience with a member of the opposite sex?? Now, it'd be different if you were being solicited by a guy to cook for him... but an attractive, intelligent, sassy, single woman... hmmm... what's your thought??

Most of my current interactions with people outside of work are managed via the computer, email, chatting and various websites like CL, etc... I've met many people via the internet over the past few years and I must say – don't knock it till you've tried it... ☺ Its definitely a different way to meet people and it has its own built-in safety features, which is probably why I use it primarily as a way to find potential friends, some with benefits and some not... ☺ Ok, so I'm gonna mention what we are both probably thinking... Whassup with the sexual energy between us?? ;) It's mild right now but it's certainly there... I'm wondering if you have given any thought to the possibilities that could occur as a result of this type of experience... ??

Well, I'm outta here in about 20 min. so your response would best be delivered to my roadrunner address: GoddessUnleashed@roadrunner.com

I look forward to continued communications... If I don't hear from you during the weekend, I hope it's a peaceful one for you and your family...

My interest on CL is simply to seek another network of various people who I have not yet met... I'm always looking at the various ads in all the different categories and respond when/if I find something worthy of responding to... ☺ I'm always seeking to expand my network of friends and I know that won't happen by my sitting alone in my country home without creating interactions with others... and meeting people through my job is not necessarily the best idea, considering what I do... lol

Well that's good... I'm a very private person keeping my personal business to myself and observing others. I have been the management field for so long it has trained me to be secretive at times and not give full details about anything, as 9 times out of 10 what you say will be used against you.

So my friendship life struggles there for leaving too much time for thoughts. I think that's why its nice to chit chat with people online and having a NSA relationship. I am attached with two kids, 16 and 6.... yah big age gap! I think it was a good night of Captain Morgan! lol... As far as the ad goes, again not sure, I love to cook and have done it for a long time, I guess its also for some different conversation and or companionship with others... Am I making sense...lol

Okay your turn,

Jason

Hi yourself... ☺ Yes, this is my work email account... how could you tell?? Lol

I was pleasantly shocked to see how very handsome you are, and how physically fit you keep yourself, and then wondered how could I get THIS lucky to find a guy who looks like THAT and who wants to cook for me, no strings... makes one wonder, ya know?? ☺

I can be considered a private person as there are scant few people who are invited to my home... but as far as revealing information about my self and about Who I Am I do not usually restrain myself... as far as talking negatively about others, no, I don't do that... I try to stay mindful of the energy that I create with my thoughts and actions... I also believe that one will receive that which one gives... and I don't wish for gossip to be created about me so I don't create any about others...

People find me an unusually attentive person... someone who understands how you feel before you even understand for your self... I'm what some would call an Empath... it's a curse and a blessing at the same time... ☺

And you, Jason? Please give me more details about your "attached" status and how that plays into your CL adventure with me... ☺

Hey there:

I'm going to guess this is your work email... If you can drop me a line during the day. So tell me what your thoughts were when we meet????

Let me ask you, are you a private person or someone with a lot of friends that likes to gossip, or confides easily with others..

Hmmm...

Jason
