Subject: Love & Life

*God really must have loved people in love or he wouldn't have made so many.
Those who claim it's a mental disease are those who have never been loved by any.
Love is stronger than life itself, And jealousy more cruel than the grave.
Men and women have loved one another, Since they spent their nights in a cave,since time immemoria.
So cherie, no matter what games we play ,we like the flowers in the fields, shed our shields,
To be warmed by the sun. We live our lives the best way we can Till death catches us on the run. The only good thing is , life has been spent loving and being loved, d very best thing life could give us.
I pray love and life treat as us fairly.*
